HOMEUCU ELECTRONIC STATEMENT PRESENTATION NOW AVAILABLE

BOISE, ID (Sept. 17, 2001) - Database Management Services, Inc. (DMS), a provider of Internet banking solutions for credit unions, announced today the availability of the Electronic Statement Presentation (ESP) module for the company's Internet banking service.

HomeCU ESP allows members to view, print, and download their statements from within the home banking environment. The system retains up to two years of statements which can be retrieved by members on-demand. Several HomeCU clients have been using ESP since May of this year.

"Electronic delivery of statements provides credit unions with significant cost savings while offering members a convenient and secure method of managing their account history," Joe Pearson, DMS President stated. "Not only do credit unions save on printing, postage and services, the significant amount of history stored means they will see a decrease in the number of research requests from their members."
